is a common-sense approach through a common sense of the scientific method that we can distinguish between a scientific approach to artificial language learning and non-scientific work in that the scientific approach is verifiable.

1. Individualized group is a combination of group activities. Students receive a mixture of group and individual work and receive individual feedback and assistance.

18. Shades of Gray features an easily differentiating language palette. A great example of this is the character of the "Killing Machine" who speaks in a monotone, robotic voice, using a series of "I" and "me" statements.
