Large-Scale Knowledge Resources. Construction and Application Takenobu Tokunaga, Antonio Ortega, 2008-02-08

At the start of the 21st century we are now well on the way towards a knowledge intensive society in which knowledge plays ever more important roles. Thus research interest should inevitably shift from information to knowledge with the problems of building, organizing, maintaining and utilizing knowledge coming central issues in a wide variety of fields. The 21st Century COE program Framework for Systematization and Application of Large scale Knowledge sources COE LKR conducted by the Tokyo Institute of Technology is one of several early attempts worldwide to address these important issues. Inspired by this project LKR2008 aimed at bringing together diverse contributions in cognitive science, computer science, education and linguistics to explore design, construction, extension, maintenance, validation and application of knowledge. Responding to our call for papers, we received 38 submissions from a variety of research areas. Each paper was reviewed by three Program Committee members. Since we were aiming at an interdisciplinary conference covering a wide range of topics concerning large scale knowledge resources, LKR each paper was assigned a reviewer from a topic area outside the main thrust of the paper. This reviewer was asked to assess whether the authors described the motivation and importance of their work in a comprehensible manner even for readers in other research areas. Following a rigorous reviewing process, we accepted 14 regular papers and 12 poster papers.

Using Technology in Teaching William Clyde, Andrew Delohery, 2008-10-01. Computers can help teachers accomplish many of their tasks more efficiently and effectively, but how can a time strapped teacher determine which pieces of technology are likely to be most helpful? This easy to read book offers useful guidance for real world situations. Organized around specific instructional goals: improving student writing, promoting collaborative learning and commonly encountered tasks: communicating with students, between class, distributing course materials, the book shows teachers at all instructional levels when and how technology can help them meet everyday challenges. Written in an anecdotal, non technical style, the book and its accompanying CD ROM cover how to use technology to communicate with students, distribute course materials, promote collaborative learning, learn through experience, clarify course objectives, improve student writing, develop student research skills, use assessment and feedback, collect course materials, identify plagiarism and more. Teachers looking for tools to help them work better and more quickly will welcome this invaluable guide to the technology that will expedite their search.

Making a Difference: Volume I and II Sasha A. Barab, Kenneth E. Hay, Nancy Butler Songer, Daniel T. Hickey, 2017-09-05. William Wordsworth 1770-1850 needs little introduction as the central figure in Romantic poetry and a crucial influence in the development of poetry generally. This broad ranging survey redefines the variety of his writing by showing how it incorporates contemporary concepts of language difference and the ways in which popular and serious literature were compared and distinguished during this period. It discusses many of Wordsworth's later poems, comparing his work with that of his regional contemporaries as well as major writers such as Scott. The key theme of relationship both between characters within poems and between poet and reader is explored through Wordsworth's construction of community.

and his use of power relationships A serious discussion of the place of sexual feeling in his writing is also included
