

Idle, slow running and progression

5 Fuel, sourced from the main well, passes into the primary idle channel through a metered idle jet. Here it is mixed with a small amount of air from a calibrated air bleed. The resulting emulsion is drawn through a channel to be discharged from the idle orifice under the primary throttle plate. A tapered mixture screw is used to vary the outlet and this ensures fine control of the idle mixture. A number of progression drillings provide enrichment as they are uncovered by the opening throttle during initial acceleration (see illustration).

6 The idle speed is set by an adjustable screw. The adjustable mixture screw is tamperproofed during production, in accordance with emission regulations.

Idle cut-off valve

7 An idle cut-off valve is used to prevent run-on when the engine is shut down. It utilises a 12-volt solenoid plunger to block the idle channel when the ignition is switched off.

Accelerator pump

8 The Weber DMTL accelerator pump is controlled by a diaphragm and is mechanically operated by a lever and cam attached to the primary throttle linkage. The outlet valve is incorporated into the pump injector. The inlet valve consists of a ball valve located in a channel from the float chamber. Excess fuel and air is returned to the float chamber through a separate fuel channel (see illustration).

Main circuit

9 The amount of fuel discharged into the airstream is controlled by a calibrated main jet. The main jet and air corrector are pushed into opposite ends of an emulsion tube and the assembly is placed into a vertical well which dips down into the fuel. Fuel from the float chamber is drawn through the main jet into the well, to be mixed with air drawn in through the air corrector and through the holes in the emulsion tube. The resulting emulsified mixture is discharged from the main nozzle through an auxiliary venturi,
