Weda Bay Environmental Report:

Feasibility Report on Navigation Improvements, Coos Bay, 1994 International Environmental Law and the Global South Shawkat Alam, Sumudu Atapattu, Carmen G. Gonzalez, Jona Razzaque, 2015-09-17 The unprecedented degradation of the planet's vital ecosystems is among the most pressing issues confronting the international community. Despite the proliferation of legal instruments to combat environmental problems, conflicts between rich and poor nations, the North-South divide, have compromised international environmental law, leading to deadlocks in environmental treaty negotiations and noncompliance with existing agreements. This volume examines both the historical origins of the North-South divide in European colonialism as well as its contemporary manifestations in a range of issues including food justice, energy justice, indigenous rights, trade, investment, extractive industries, human rights, land grabs, hazardous waste, and climate change. Born out of the recognition that global inequality and profligate consumerism present threats to a sustainable planet, this book makes a unique contribution to international environmental law by emphasizing the priorities and perspectives of the global South.

Sustainability Matters: Environmental Management In Asia Lin Heng Lye, George Ofori, Lai Choo Malone-lee, Victor R. Savage, Yen-peng Ting, 2010-07-27 This is a compilation of some of the best research papers of students from the MSc Environmental Management programme at the National University of Singapore from 2001-2006. They have been edited for brevity and cover a wide range of topics encompassing Corporate Environmental Management, the Conservation of Biological Diversity, Land use Planning, the Marine Environment, the Environment and Economic Development, Energy Sustainability, as well as Urban Pollution and Waste Management. These issues are examined in the context of different Asian countries including Bangladesh, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Malaysia, Nepal, Singapore, Thailand, and Vietnam. This book provides perspectives of the many challenges that confront environmental managers and ventures to suggest some solutions.

Natural Resources Grabbing: An International Law Perspective Francesca Romanin Jacur, Angelica Bonfanti, Francesco Seatzu, 2015-10-14 The growing demand for natural resources has triggered a race to their exploitation and possession, especially in developing countries. Most desired are water, land, forests, raw materials, oil, gas, mineral, and precious stones, fisheries, and genetic resources. Emerging economies, Western states, multinational corporations, and international financial institutions have become the biggest buyers in a race that on one hand strengthens economies and creates investment opportunities and on the other threatens local communities and environmental protection. Natural Resources Grabbing: An International Law Perspective aims at filling a gap in the legal literature by addressing the adverse effects that large-scale investments in natural resources may pose to fundamental human rights and the protection of the environment.

Minerals Yearbook, 2009 The Routledge International Handbook of Criminology and Human Rights Leanne Weber, Elaine Fishwick, Marinella

Marmo, 2016-08-25 The Routledge International Handbook of Criminology and Human Rights brings together a diverse body of work from around the globe and across a wide range of criminological topics and perspectives united by its critical application of human rights law and principles This collection explores the interdisciplinary reach of criminology and is the first of its kind to link criminology and human rights This text is divided into six sections each with an introduction and an overview provided by one of the editors The opening section makes an assessment of the current standing of human rights within the discipline Each of the remaining sections corresponds to a substantive area of harm prevention and social control which together make up the main core of contemporary criminology namely criminal law in practice transitional justice peacemaking and community safety policing in all its guises traditional and emerging approaches to criminal justice and penalty both within and beyond the prison This Handbook forms an authoritative foundation on which future teaching and research about human rights and criminology can be built This multi disciplinary text is an essential companion for criminologists sociologists legal scholars and political scientists
