Sport Committee, 2007-01-25 Call TV quiz shows are an example of television programmes provided by commercial broadcasters in order to increase their revenue. The viewer watches the live broadcast then sends a text message or makes a premium rate telephone call in order to take part with the broadcaster keeping a proportion of the call revenue. The Culture Committee has decided to examine this development and whether some form of regulation is required since the programmes seem to be another means of gambling with some members of the public complaining about them. This report therefore has set out a number of recommendations as to how broadcasters and regulators should address this. The Committee states that there seems to be a lack of fairness and transparency throughout the process. For example, players are generally not told that it is a matter of luck whether a call is connected to the studio and that the chances of getting through are very slim. Also, the cost of calling is not always made as clear as it might be or the amount players might have to spend to win a prize. Primary responsibility for maintaining confidence in the Call TV quiz show format rests with the operating companies and the broadcasters. The Committee believes that the guidance drawn up by the two main regulators Ofcom and ICSTIS does not go far enough. The Committee also states that Call TV quiz shows should constitute gaming under the Gambling Act 2005 and the Culture Department and the Gambling Commission should consider this as a matter of urgency. Operators should have voluntarily introduced practices intended to help viewers who make repeated premium rate calls appreciate how much they are spending. Also, some assessment of the addiction to participation in such shows should be undertaken. Viewers should be made aware that puzzles on Call TV quiz shows have a cryptic element and that Ofcom should make it obligatory to have games verified with a third party and solutions lodged with them to prevent underhand changes being made while the show is on air. Ofcom should also publish periodic reports on its monitoring of Call TV quiz programmes. Any practice of misleading viewers about call volumes or of blocking of calls would be unfair and fraudulent and should be punished under criminal law. The Committee recommends that broadcasters should be required to display some recent historical information about volume of incoming calls and the odds of being connected to the studio. Also, that a single body Ofcom take responsibility for registering all complaints.

WE THE PEOPLE, SERVANTS OF DECEPTION Christopher M. Dawson, 2012-05-14 Using the principles and tools of sociology presented in his university course, Chris Dawson challenges the reader to reconsider the social reality of our society. This book exposes inconsistencies and deceptions in the conventional portrayal of America's experiment in democracy. His provocative social commentary explores the role of our military, the culture of fear, strategies in the war on terror, the excesses of corporate power and our misconceptions about crime. He speaks of social inequality, social and racial group divisions and offers unconventional views about education, medicine, universal healthcare and the origins of religion. The doubts he raises will merit your serious reflection.

People Michael A. Neblo, Kevin M. Esterling, David M. J. Lazer, 2018-09-06 Many citizens in the US and abroad fear that democratic institutions have become weak and continue to weaken Politics with the People develops the principles and practice of directly representative democracy a new way of connecting citizens and elected officials to improve representative government Sitting members of Congress agreed to meet with groups of their constituents via online deliberative town hall meetings to discuss some of the most important and controversial issues of the day The results from these experiments reveal a model of how our democracy could work where politicians consult with and inform citizens in substantive discussions and where otherwise marginalized citizens participate and are empowered Moving beyond our broken system of interest group politics and partisan bloodsport directly representative reforms will help restore citizens faith in the institutions of democratic self government precisely at a time when those institutions themselves feel dysfunctional and endangered
